

Report of CSA

Rostra Series

- The Rostra Autumn Series is looking for speakers! The Rostra is an innovative new platform for Classics students to present ideas that push the boundaries of traditional Classical academia. Speakers will be able to present theses (whether they are hopeful masters theses, forward-thinking essay plans or inventive personal perspectives) to fellow Classics students, helping them to practice presentation skills, have ideas challenged by colleagues, and flesh out concepts for future academic research. If you are interested, please contact harrison.brewer@mail.mcgill.ca or ella.hartsoe@mail.mcgill.ca for more information.

Global Antiquities Outreach Lecture

- Global Antiquities will be hosting its annual outreach lecture in the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts on October 25, 5:00 pm (Desmarais Building, Le Salon). The speaker this year is Professor Anthony Barbieri-Low from the University of California at Santa Barbara, who will be delivering a talk on "Imagining the Tomb of the First Emperor". There will also be an international workshop held at Thomson House, October 26 and 27: "Place and Political Culture in Ancient Greece, Rome, and China".

Haunted Histories

- The CSA and HSA are planning a joint event, hosting professors from both departments to give short lectures on Halloween-themed points of interest. The talks will start at 5:45 in Arts W-215, on Monday, October 30.

Respectfully Submitted,

David Epstein