Report of the History Students' Association

RECAP

- The Women in History discussion panel/tea hour was very successful! Many professors attended, and both professors and students shared their experiences, perspectives, and strategies for dealing with situations that come from gendered issues in class and the department specifically.

INITIATIVES

- Our provider for sweater orders has been chosen and orders are in progress.
- Students are using the official Facebook groups for 200- and 300-level HIST courses to ask for help and engage with other students like we hoped and intended.
- We are still adding more content to our U1/Beginner History guide to be released in the next few weeks.
- Our History book catalogue/lending library has launched and is now available to students during office hours.
- Speaking of, our office hours have been finalized and can be found on our Facebook group and listservs.

EVENTS

- Our second semester workshop aimed at helping students develop necessary research and essay skills to succeed with the History librarian is scheduled for February 8th.
- Our second wine and cheese event is on February 6th in the Arts building.
- Our Valentine's Day lecture series joint event with the CSA now has an official date and location, and we've heard back from a few professors willing to give short presentations on the history of the holiday.
- We are in the early stages of planning our second historical trivia night, a casual snacks and socializing event, and a movie night for the upcoming semester.

Respectfully Submitted,

Rachel Almuli
