Report of the History Students' Association

INITIATIVES

- Our sweater orders are in progress and we hope to get order forms out in the next week or so.
- We made official facebook groups for every 200- and 300-level HIST course to help students share notes, find people to study with, and hopefully make the department seem a bit less large and anonymous in the larger classes usually taken by more junior students.
- We are still adding more content to our U1/Beginner History guide to be released in the next few weeks.
- Our History book catalogue/lending library has launched and is now available to students!

EVENTS

- We have a Women in History event soon for women and femme students, professors, and grad students to share experiences and discuss concerns and potential solutions for issues affecting them in the department. Students of all genders are of course welcome.
- Our second semester workshop aimed at helping students develop necessary research and essay skills to succeed with the History librarian is scheduled for February 8th.
- We are also currently preparing for our second wine and cheese event on February 6th in the Arts building.
- Our Valentine's Day lecture series joint event with the CSA now has an official date and location, and we've sent out a call to professors looking for presenters.
- Additionally, we have a more informal, social tea and cookies event in the works as well.

Respectfully Submitted,
