

Report of the Classics Students Association (CSA)

Classics Students Association (CSA) Business

- The proposed changes to the CSA constitution have been sent to the Constitution and By-law Review Committee (CBRC) for their approval and any changes that they propose.
- Along with the Concordia Classics Students Association and the Université de Montréal Classics Students Association, the CSA will be co-hosting the “Montreal Inter-University Colloquium in Classics”. The CSA’s particular event will be held on March 22nd. It will last all day and everyone is more than welcome to attend. There will be other events hosted by the other university
- The CSA held a very successful bake sale on Tuesday, February 27th from 10- 4 in Leacock lobby. Thank you to all those who came out!
- Professor Lynn Kozak’s series “Happy Hour Homer” continues, this Monday, February 12th from 5:30- 7:30 at Bar des Pins. The event (and venue) are 18+ and that there is a content warning of misogyny, ableism, sexual violence and physical violence. As well, this event is filmed, however seats are available outside of the frame.
- The CSA website has been updated with the biographies of members of the executive. A massive “thank you” to our Honors Rep. Avery Warkentin for undertaking this massive task.
- The CSA will be having a samosa sale on March 20th from 9- 4:30 in Leacock lobby.

Respectfully Submitted,
Chip Smith
